CYCLING

STELLENBOSCH TRAIL FUND

The Stellenbosch Trail Fund is a non-profit community organisation who upgrades and maintains many of the trails in the greater Stellenbosch. Our best known tracks are G-Spot, Koloniesland and Eden Forest and we were also instrumental in creating the Maties XCO Track.

We Build out rails for the community and we ask that you support us by booking on of our guides.

Coetzenburg, die Berg Pad & the XCO Track

This is one of the most popular tracks in the Stellenbosch area. The Berg Pad is a wide open gravel road that cuts on the contours of the Stellenbosch Mountain.

Although it has some very steep sections it is mostly a pleasure to traverse with ample space and beautiful views and it is a popular and well used local walking and running and cycling track. Parking is available in the parking lot between the sport stadiums for quick walking access. The XCO track is for those with more skill and some sections has been classified as Black. Be aware and ride within your skill level.

Cycling access can be found via the tar road next to the Astro hockey fields or from Park Road. Connectors the G-Spot track are signposted for those who want to venture a bit further.

G-Spot

This has become one of the best known tracks in the world and you will be able to spot athletes like Jolanda Neff and Nino Schurter here in the summer months.

There are two options for going up and you can choose between a slow jeep-track or a faster, slightly more challenging single track. There are numerous routes connecting G-Spot to other close spots like Eden Forest or Coetzenburg.

The descent on G-Spot is what brings the crowds though. With fast bumps and beautiful berms you will be having so much fun you might want to go up again for a repeat. Heed the warning though as some people's level of "stoke" on the downhill has caused many over estimation of skills that has led to numerous broken collarbones. The G-Spot Parking lot is accessible through Kronendal and Schoongezicht Roads.

Eden Forest

Eden, or Paradyskloof Forest, is one of the last remaining pieces of pine forest left on the slopes of Stellenbosch mountain. It is easily accessible via Paradyskloof Rd with ample parking. This is a great spot in the summer as people try to stay out of the blistering sun. With easy jeep-tracks and windy single tracks through the forest this route is well worth a visit. Further connecting tracks to G-Spot and to Mont Marie also allow you to go a bit further afield if you feel the need.

SAFARI!

Get up close and personal with our wildlife in their natural habitat!

Safaris in South Africa are a must for anyone fascinated by wildlife and here the Big Five refers to buffalo, elephant, lion, leopard and rhino. The thrill comes from photographing, observing and appreciating them in their natural habitat.

If you're looking for a Big Five safari experience in South Africa you can go to almost any province, but the Kruger National Park which stretches across Mpumalanga and Limpopo provinces remains an iconic safari destination.

Prepare to be awed. Whether it is spotting a leopard dozing in the bough of a tree, a black rhino half-hidden in thick shrubs, finding a pride of lions in the shade after a kill, or watching a large herd of elephants or Cape buffalo move soundlessly across the road - these moments leave a permanent imprint on your soul.

Accommodation for Big Five safaris in Mpumalanga is either within the Kruger National Park or in the neighbouring private reserves such as Sabi Sand (which has the highest density of leopards in the world), Timbavati and Klaserie, Eastern Cape. Some lodges pride themselves on showing the Big Five to guests in record time, and you'll even walk away with a certificate.

Once you've done with the Big Five activities in Mpumalanga, it's time to "sweat the small stuff" and learn about the wondrous creatures like the dung beetle.
